MONMOUTH COUNTY DIVISIONS

These records are to be found at the Monmouth County Archives rather than at the Courthouse in Freehold. The ledgers cover the years 1835 to 1903 of the County Clerk's Division records of petitioners who appeared before the Court of Common Pleas. The dockets, loose papers of all these transactins were also preserved.

Among these papers were division transactions which pre-dated the ledger, beginning in 1793. Abstracts of these earlier dockets are followed by a note in parentheses.

MICHAEL KEARNEY, Shrewsbury Township, concerning the eight share of the Farm known as Morrisdon, located along the south side of the Swimming River , beginning middle highwy from Colt's Neck to Falls Bridge by a big maple which was a fixed corner in the Division of Morris Don Farm in 1786 between EDMUND WILLIAMS and others. A large tract of at least 300 acres. The Pine Tract beginning call in a Pine Tree marked "MK" on the south side of a Cedar Swamp.

JOSEPH HAIGHT claims seven of the eight shares, through deeds from William Haight, Richard Stevens (Susanna Kearney, wife of Richard Stevens, was the daughter of Philp Kearney whose will was probated in August of 1775), John Stillwell, Joanna Kearney and John Skinner (Elizabeth Kearny, wife of John Skinner, was also daughter of Philip Kearney, died 1775).

EDMUND WILLIAMS claims through deed from Henry Rogers, whose agent was Elias Boudinot (1792) and from a release from Henry Rogers and his wife, Isabella Rogers (Isabella Kearney, daughter Philip Kearney, who died in 1775, was wife of Henry Rogers).

The Division briefly relates history of Michael Kearney's ownership. Michael had deeded to his brother Philip Kearney, Esq. of City of Amboy, who died testate. In Philip's Codicil to his will, August 2nd 1775, he devised,"all the real estate which he had purchased since he had drawn his will to his nine children", to be equally divided among them. MorrisDon had been purchased since the date of the drawing of his will (April 25, 1770), and Edmund Williams had purchased Morris Don from Renaud Kearney, a son of Philip Kearney - the one ninth share," where Edmund Williams now lives"

Commissioners: John VanDerVeer, John Lloyd and William Crawford, appointed September 23rd 1793, and continued to July 24th 1794.

MORRIS COUNTY GRAVESTONES

Chester Congregational Church Yard

Copied Oct. 12 and Nov. 7, 1933

The oldest part of this yard was copied in 1921 by Chester N. Jones, Russell B. Rankin and the late William J. Conkling. This work was checked, and the remainder of the yard copied and checked on Oct. 12 and Nov. 7, 1933, by the following members of the Genealogical Society of New Jersey: Charles A. Andrews (since deceased), Louis L. Blauvelt, Rev. Warren P. Coon, Rev. Joseph F. Folsom, Chester N. Jones, Edward H. Lum, Willard S. Muchmore, Russell B. Rankin and Walter L. Van Duyne.

The village of Chester was originally known as Black River. It is located in the north central part of Chester Township, which in 1799 was set off from Roxbury Township. The History of Morris County (1882), page 212, states that Chester was settled by Congregationalists from Southold and Presbyterians from Easthampton, Long Island. Both denominations erected churches. A Congregational Church was first erected in 1743, and rebuilt in 1803. The present building was erected in 1854. This organization has been called the oldest Congregational church west of the Hudson River. The Roxbury, or Black River, (now Chester) Presbyterian Church was originally located about a mile north of the village, on grounds now occupied by Pleasant Hill Cemetery, and where many of the early members of that church are interred. The burying ground adjoining the Congregational Church, however, appears to have been used by both denominations. It is still in use.

These records are arranged where possible under the head of the family, as indicated by the inscriptions themselves. The asterisk (*) indicates that no stone was found for that individual, his name and relationship appearing without dates on the stone of a member of his family.

[1] Robert Dimsdale, one of the earliest physicians in West Jersey, bought of William Penn, May 22, 1682, for £25, a tract of 5,000 acres in Pennsylvania. He seems to have been then of Edmondton, Middlesex county, England. He came to America in 1683 with Penn, and located a large tract of land south of Mt. Holly, on both sides of a stream hence known as Dimsdale Run, where he built a large brick house and cleared a farm. Some time prior to 1686 he married, 2d, Sarah, daughter of Francis Collins, who came from the parish of Stepney, Middlesex county, England, and settled in Newton, Gloucester county, in 1682. In 1688 he returned to England, and lived for a while at Theydon Garnon, near Epping, Essex, but in January, 1692-3, he was at Bishop Stortford (a small market town and parish on both sides of the river Stort, formerly crossed by a ford at this place, and which was bestowed by William the Conqueror, soon after the conquest, upon Maurice, Bishop of London, and his successors, whence the name), in the county of Hertford, where he suffered imprisonment for a time, for practising without a license. While in America he published in London, in 1684, a work advertising a number of specifics for the cure of various diseases. He died in England in 1718. His widow soon after returned to this country, and resided at Haddonfield until her death, in 1739.

[1] Robert Dimsdale, one of the earliest physicians in West Jersey, bought of William Penn, May 22, 1682, for £25, a tract of 5,000 acres in Pennsylvania. He seems to have been then of Edmondton, Middlesex county, England. He came to America in 1683 with Penn, and located a large tract of land south of Mt. Holly, on both sides of a stream hence known as Dimsdale Run, where he built a large brick house and cleared a farm. Some time prior to 1686 he married, 2d, Sarah, daughter of Francis Collins, who came from the parish of Stepney, Middlesex county, England, and settled in Newton, Gloucester county, in 1682. In 1688 he returned to England, and lived for a while at Theydon Garnon, near Epping, Essex, but in January, 1692-3, he was at Bishop Stortford (a small market town and parish on both sides of the river Stort, formerly crossed by a ford at this place, and which was bestowed by William the Conqueror, soon after the conquest, upon Maurice, Bishop of London, and his successors, whence the name), in the county of Hertford, where he suffered imprisonment for a time, for practising without a license. While in America he published in London, in 1684, a work advertising a number of specifics for the cure of various diseases. He died in England in 1718. His widow soon after returned to this country, and resided at Haddonfield until her death, in 1739.

1808, May 10. Marsh, Mordecai, of Bridge Town, Middlesex Co.; will of. Son, Solomon, for life, use and possession of my grist mill, saw mill, mill pond, dam and stream; dwelling house now in occupation of Oliver Martin and where Samuel Martin now resides, including my ship yards; also $1,500, having received part of his portion of my estate (that is $3,500). After his death, all of same to his two sons, Solomon and Mordecai, as tenants in common. Daughter, Frances (wife of Crowell Evans), for life, use and possession of land and dwelling house wherein Lewis Prall now lives [description given]; interest of $6,375 (deducting thereout whatever sums Crowell Evans owes me), annually. After her death, all of land to her son, Mordecai Evans, and residue of money to her children equally. Daughter, Abigail De Antoroches, for life, use and possession of dwelling house and land (lately built on land purchased from James Moore, adjoining land purchased of Richard Marsh, being part of the Old Meeting House lot which I purchased of Richard Hartshorne, and Isaac Vail); also interest of $4,250, annually. After her death, to her son, Lewis DeAntoroches, the house and land and money. If he should die before 21, leaving no issue, house and lot to be sold and proceeds thereof together with principal sum as abovesaid to be divided between all my surviving children. Daughter, Mary (wife of John Brown), for life, dwelling, store house and garden on Rahway River, near my grist mill, and Joseph D. Camp; also interest of $5,000. At her death, said sum to her surviving children. The open space in front of grist mill and the ship yard to remain open and for use of all said devisees as a common privilege. Son, Joseph, tract purchased severally of David Jaques and

Robert Lee (45 acres); also $2,500, having advanced him a like sum heretofore. Daughter, Susannah Marsh, dwelling house and land adjoining her sister, Frances and Oliver Martin; also interest of $7,000. If she dies leaving no issue, house and money to be divided between her surviving brothers and sisters, equally. Son, Joseph, house wherein I now dwell; also ½ the home land I hold by will of my father, Joseph Marsh and purchased of John Spinning, adjoining the hatter's shop [description given]. Son, Elias, the other ½ of said home land, adjoining land which Jane Lyell purchased of John Spinning and by her will devised to children of Jacob Raddeker and others; also tract of 40 acres purchased of Jonathan Freeman; also $6,000. A tract purchased of David Jaques, High Sheriff and of John Moore, to be equally divided between two sons, Joseph and Elias; salt meadow purchased of Thomas Skinner in Rahway Meadows; ½ of residue of moveable estate to three sons, Solomon, Joseph and Elias; and interest of other ½ to daughters, Frances, Abigail, Mary and at their deaths to their surviving children and daughter, Susannah. Son, Mordecai, has been absent for a number of years but if he should return before or after my death, to have $5,000, the bequests to other children being charged therewith, if he returns. If son, Joseph should die leaving no issue, his share to my son, Elias, and if Elias should die before 21, or leaving no issue, his share to son, Joseph. Son, Solomon, also use and possession of my small slip on Log Landing, adjoining Aaron Brokaw's house lot, and at his death to his 2 sons. Executors—cousin, Samuel Marsh, and my two sons, Joseph and Elias. Witnesses—Jeremiah Shotwell, Hugh Laing, Joseph D. Camp.

1814, Mar. —. Codicil. Since making will, grandson Mordecai (son of my son, Solomon), has deceased. Said Solomon (also deceased) has another son "being the 4th son, since named Mordecai", I therefore give to said 4th son, Mordecai, all lands as heretofore devised to Mordecai, now deceased; also $700. The $1,500 given to said son, Solomon (now dec'd), I now give to my grandson, Benjamin Marsh (son of said Solomon). To grandson, Joseph (son of Crowell Evens), $1,000. To each of my granddaughters, Ann Marsh, Mary Marsh, Abigail Evens, Catherine Evens, Mary Brown, Susan Brown, Elizabeth Brown and Mary Jaques, interest of $200 and principal when 21. If either of them should die before 21, her share to survivors of them. Son, Joseph, by his misconduct having made himself unfit to be an Executor and in lieu of former bequests, I now give him an annuity of $125 for life. The lands as heretofore devised to him, to be held in trust by Executors for his benefit and that of his family, and at his death to be divided between his lawful issue, if any. To daughter-in-law, Dorcas Marsh, $125, annually while wife or widow of said son, Joseph. In case of his death without issue, his share to my son, Elias. In case of any dispute, it is to be referred to Richard Hartshorne, Henry Shotwell and Samuel Marsh, whose decision is to be final. Wife, Hester, to have interest of $2,500 per an agreement between us. Son, Joseph, to have use and occupation of the dwelling house in which I reside for life, reserving therefrom the south westerly room for use of my daughter, Abigail D'Anterroche, and other household privileges. Son, Elias Marsh and son-in-law, John Brown, not to be discharged from their indebtedness to me by reason of their executorship. The ⅛ of residue (as devised to Solomon), to his surviving children, equally. Interest of share devised to daughter, Susanna Marsh, now Susannah

Jaques, to her for life and at her death to her children. Executors—son, Elias, son-in-law, John Brown, to act with cousin Samuel Marsh as before appointed. Witnesses—Jeremiah Shotwell, Hugh Laing, Joseph Shotwell, Jr.

1814, June 29. Codicil. Daughter, Frances (wife of Crowel Evans), is now dec'd. I give to the several children of said Frances all the land, money and effects as heretofore given to her.
